The Class of 2010 hit it out of the park last year and worked as a team to set the standard for young alumni philanthropy to the college. With an impressive 53% participation rate the Class of 2010 stood out not only from its young alumni peers but also had the highest participation of any class 0 to 24 years post-graduation. Sylvia Racca, Executive Director of the Dartmouth College Fund, says that there is a direct correlation between philanthropic giving and longevity. The Class of 2010 is well on its way to following in the footsteps of the great Hal Ripley '29. Keep up the good work and congratulations on an amazing year.
