Andrea Maureen Lordan '86

2012 Treasurer of the Year

Andrea, for the last two years you have been the stalwart leader of the Class Treasurers Association. According to the Dartmouth staff, you are “tireless, responsible, and hard working.”

“Andrea is one of the most committed alums I know,” says former Class of 1986 president Jeff Weiss. Your list of Dartmouth activities is staggering. Starting in 1988 as an alumni interviewer, you have served on 31 different committees for Dartmouth College and by all accounts have excelled in every one of them. You received the Young Alumni Distinguished Service Award from Dartmouth in 2001, as well as the District Enrollment Director Award from the Admissions Office in 2000. A class treasurer since 2006, you were the 25th Reunion treasurer in 2011.

You became vice president of the Class Treasurers Association in the autumn of 2008 and immediately became active using your computer skills to learn the ins and outs of QuickBase. You are on the case with creative ideas and hard work for class treasurers, from helping with the Class Treasurers Association Web site to managing the transition from the DAM subsidy.

Your analytical nature was evident even before you received your AB in computer science. While at Dartmouth you were manager of the men’s swimming and diving team. Today you reside just outside of Harvard Square in Cambridge with husband and classmate Hugh Reilly '86 as well as your three sons. You have also reinvented yourself, earning an MA in education and now serving as a math specialist at the Advent School.

Your classmates are universal in their acclaim. According to current class president Kendall Wilson, “Andrea is the perfect choice for Treasurer of the Year! I am surprised she has not received this recognition prior to now. Quite honestly, our class would be lost without her—she knows a little bit about everything, not just the budget. She is one of the first people I go to for help if I need it, and she always knows the answer. She works very hard not only for our class, but also for Dartmouth, and she is always cheerful, very professional, and reliable.

Now, it is our turn to thank you for all that you do. In Jeff’s words, “While Andrea’s commitment, smarts, and hard work have been and continue to be apparent in all that she does, her love for Dartmouth, her willingness to share advice with or guide any teammate in need, and her tremendous can-do attitude make her a truly special leader.” You have been a Class Treasurers Association president extraordinaire and, most of all, a wonderful person to work with.

In appreciation for all you have done for the Class Treasurers Association and for Dartmouth College as a whole, it is an honor to present you with the 2012 Class Treasurer of the Year Award.
