Dear Alumni, Parents, and Friends of Dartmouth,

Known as the “Cradle of Western Civilization,” Athens, the Peloponnese, and the small islands of the Aegean deliver an enticing blend of history, diverse cultural influences, stunning natural beauty, and archaeological gems. Spend a night in Athens at the venerable Hotel Grande Bretagne on Syntagma Square before embarking the Sea Cloud II in Piraeus for a seven-night private charter. We will visit Delos, mythological birthplace of Apollo and a major religious center. The isles of Naxos, Milos, Kythera, and Hydra offer long sunny days, brilliant cerulean waters, and hidden gems waiting to be discovered. Visits to the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Epidaurus, legendary Mycenae, the rock of Monemvasia, and the beautiful historic town of Nafplio on the Peloponnese Peninsula round out the program. Expert lecturers will be joining us throughout, including historian John Meffert of the National Trust for Historic Preservation and local art historian Nigel McGilchrist with the Santa Barbara Museum of Art.

There is no better way to visit this part of the world than aboard the Sea Cloud II, with an itinerary designed to allow ample time for sailing and a robust lecture program. Savor fine dining in the luxurious salon or on the open teak deck, enjoy engaging presentations and casual conversation in the piano lounge, and depending on your interests, discover the library, fitness studio, spa services, or swim platform. You'll also feel comfortable retiring to your cabin or suite—a spacious, stylish, and delightful retreat. And throughout your voyage, indulge in the personalized, exemplary care lavished by 60 crew members. This magnificent three-masted barque accommodates just 78 passengers, so we encourage you to reserve your space now.
